

THE LINUX FOUNDATION

FN NETWORKING FUND

End User ADVISORY GROUP AGREEMENT

In consideration of being invited to serve as a member of the End User Advisory Group (the “EUAG”) of the LFN Networking Fund (“LFN”), a project of The Linux Foundation, I agree as follows:

1. Charter Terms. I have read and understood the terms of the End User Advisory Group Charter, and agree to abide by the terms of such Charter, the LFN Charter, and such other rules and policies as the Governing Board of LFN and/or The Linux Foundation may adopt from time to time.
2. No Conflict. If I am not self-employed, my employer is aware of my being invited to become a member of the EUAG, and has no objection to my accepting this invitation and dedicating the time to being on the EUAG. By becoming a member of the EUAG and serving in that capacity, I will not violate the terms of any agreement or obligation by which I am bound with or to my employer or any other person or entity. My participation is based on my individual capacity to assist and support LFN and does not establish any participation rights for my employer.
3. No Compensation. I understand and agree that serving on the EUAG will have non-monetary benefits to me, and that I will receive no monetary compensation in return for serving as a member of the EUAG. If I have any expenses relating to such service, I will only be reimbursed for those expenses if they have been approved in advance by LFN.
4. Termination. Either LFN or I may terminate this Agreement, effective immediately, at any time, and with or without cause, by giving notice to the Governing Board of LFN or me, as the case may be, by email at the addresses then being used by the parties in connection with EUAG meetings.
5. Legal Effect. I understand that this Agreement will represent a binding contract between The Linux Foundation and me upon my signing and submitting this Agreement.
