2020 June Virtual LFN Developer & Testing Forum

Information

The Virtual LFN Developer & Testing Forum will take place June 22-25, 2020. While we can't convene in the same physical location at this time, we will use a combination of online tools to create a productive and interactive virtual meeting environment. As the principal technical event for the LF Networking projects, this bi-annual gathering provides the opportunity for each participating community to advance their project roadmaps and explore cross-community collaboration and integration points.

Logistics

Registration for the event is required for all attendees: https://events.linuxfoundation.org/lfn-dev-test-forum/

Registration helps the LFN staff better to anticipate attendance, allocate resources, and measure community engagement. Thank you for taking this important step.

Topic Proposals are accepted through June 3rd and can be submitted here: https://wiki.lfnetworking.org/x2Qw0Ag

The Schedule is under development. Once ready, a link will be posted here: Link TBD

Materials

Presenters, please remember to link your topic materials that are linked to your session in the schedule. Post-event, these materials, meeting notes, and recordings will be available to all.
