

2020-10-15 - Write the Docs

Topic Leader(s)

- Jakob Krieg

Topic Overview

During that presentation host shows how to work with documentation in more efficient way.

Slides & Recording

Minutes

Jakob presented tools which is used by him to create *.rst files with preview mode and syntax highlights. He uses Visual Studio Code with reStructuredText extension.

Host shows us also the advantage of Read the docs usage over other solutions (like Confluence).

Couple of comments from audience:

- some support may be needed with VSC with it's extension usage for documentation project members,
- <https://pypi.org/project/doc8/> tool usage recommendation
- there was a conclusion that there is a field for optimization, because nowadays each project maintains it's documentation itself and it's probably the best solution
